

Bactrocera dorsalis (Hendel)

Oriental Fruit Fly

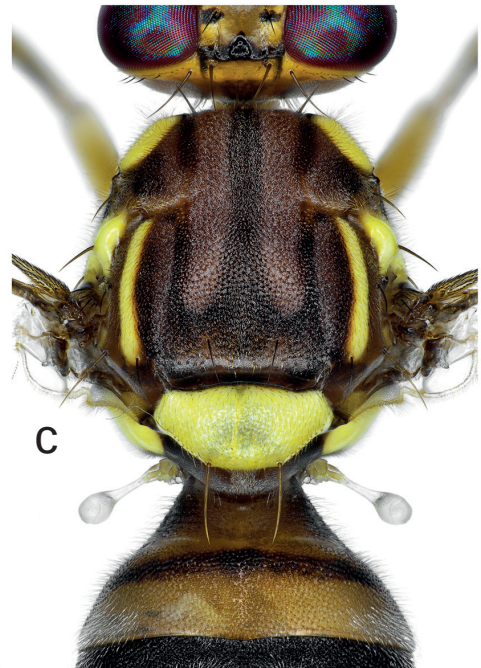

This species is native to Asia. It breeds on many fruit and vegetable species. Its high fecundity and rapid life cycle make this fly one of the most dangerous fruit flies.

a

b

c

d

Bactrocera dorsalis (Hendel)

a. male abdomen, dorsal view; b. female abdomen, dorsal view; c. thorax and scutellum, dorsal view; d. wing

Poster funded within the context of the ACP-ACTAE project by AFD (Agence Française de Développement) and Cirad.

Photographs and prototyping : Mr. Antoine Franck (Cirad).
Authors: Mr. Antoine Franck (Cirad), Dr. Jean-Philippe Deguine (Cirad), Dr. Nguyen Thi Ngoc Truc (SOFRI), Dr. Dinh Thi Yen Phuong (IFAM), Prof. Le Van Vang (Can Tho University), Dr. Philippe Cao Van (Cirad).

